Still Learning How To Write These Posts. aarrhhgg!

 December 6th, 2009

wow, what a task blogging can be to the un-initiated! That includes me. I have been trying for some long months now to get this correct, but it still comes out wrong.

Some folk say "out-source". Yeah fine, when you can afford to pay someone for that.

Me, I can't so that's a no go George as they say. 😊

Anyway, I have been trying so hard to set up a little page of its own with lots of Articles about different subjects in the hope someone may find something of interest or help to them in the pages.

Some of it looks okay, other pages not so good, so I ask for your forgiveness for not being so spot on like the "guru's".

Sorry, I'm not one of those, but I do want to help others. The site if you want to go look is: <http://success-for-pensioners.com/dannsbay/Articles-Galore/arts>

I am sure many of you will find a page you have been searching for and if not the actual page, then a lead towards it. Try it, you may be happily surprised!! 😊

Money Making Tips For Pensioners and Others

 August 7th, 2009

If you haven't had a look at the offer yet hurry on to:

http://www.imrenegades.com/?aff_id=656

If you have a PayPal account, can follow instructions, and know how to use a mouse, this is for you.

In fact this is THE EASIEST ways to add a cool $500 - $1,000 in your PayPal account every month, with very little work.

You get not one, not two, but eight different turnkey websites:

- 1) "Cash In a Flash" - How to make fast cash online
- 2) "Millionaire Bloggers" - How A-list bloggers create millions
- 3) "Social Marketing 3.0" - The next generation of social media
- 4) "The IM Virus" - How to spread your business like a virus
- 5) "Copycat Marketing" - How to copy and steal from gurus
- 6) "Underground Traffic Secrets" - Stolen traffic manual
- 7) "Web 2.0 Vault" - The ultimate Web 2.0 toolkit

😊 "WordPress Toolbox" - Massive collection of WordPress tools

All sales you make go directly to your PayPal account, and all customer details are sent to your favorite autoresponder service.

Vince, Gobala and Melvin have done an amazing job at making a long and tedious process so simple.

That's why I recommend that you get into the "IM Renegade" offer right now before the price increases for good. Go here:

http://www.imrenegades.com/?aff_id=656

Remember the price you see will only last for the next few days. Grab your membership now or end up paying more later..

Sincerely,

Danella Rutherford

One thing has become very obvious to me over the many years I have searched online for a legitimate business that didn't take all my daylight hours to work, is the number of opportunities there are.

Masses of new ideas become available on an almost daily basis. Before learning how computers worked, and what could be done with them, I really didn't care too much what people were saying about the great necessity for them for our whole future. I really believed that was a lot of hype and rubbish just so we would buy the next new eBook or massive latest business craze that you didn't have to do a scrap of work for!!

Yes, in many ways it was Baloney. However, like a lot of other things there was quite an amount of truth in it as well.

There really were, and ARE, great opportunities for anyone to become a real entrepreneur, and make a wonderful business life for themselves.

The work really isn't hard or difficult, just perhaps a little time consuming when you first set out. Still, what new task does one take on without it taking time to learn the different aspects of it?

Look at the young people who started YouTube, also the likes of Google itself, and Bill gates with Microsoft. He was a very young man when he started that and looks where he is today. Taken himself away from the "coal-face" as it were, and now others run what he set in place.

Each and every person who chooses to can do exactly the same. Maybe they won't have that much success, maybe they will fail a couple of times, or more like I did, but you can still get up and get out there and find the freebies that genuinely help you get started, and very soon, if you STICK AT IT, you will find it actually does pay large and continuing dividends.

We can be our own worst enemy sometimes, simply because we expect things online to be handed to us on a plate so to speak.

Come on folks, how in this world can we expect that?

It's just not feasible or real.

However, putting some research, a bit of study and ACTION into what you are doing, will bring 1st class rewards.

Personally I have been mightily blessed in what I have learnt already, and am still learning.

This has been from some pieces I have actually bought online, but never succeeded in making them work, and nowadays also some which are totally free to learn from, and I am now finding by combining the two types of teaching and putting it to actually "doing something" it really does work!!

I admit to being really amazed the first time I saw things coming together.

Someone told me a few years back that the simplest way to get started earning online and making those extra dollars, was to begin writing good content articles about different subjects.

Preferably something I knew something about so I could help others going through the same problem areas.

I passed that off as too hard to do. Nah, I can't write, what's the point of that. It's all been written about before. Nothing I can add now.

How wrong I was!! I wrote one article, submitted it after many days of wondering if I should, and Voila! It was accepted.

Shock was a word I had only heard till then. Excitement was an even bigger word and I'm a lady of what they term "advancing years".

I was acting like a teenager, simply because something I had written was good enough to be printed online!!

So check out my Resource box below, all you budding young (or older) Entrepreneurs out there, and see an answer to many dreams right there!

Whether you do Article Writing, or follow some other course of action, get out and DO IT, because NOT doing it is all that's holding you back.

This is one way I "Share my Dreams, and am Living The Reality"
